

Ecarma finishes as runner up at boys tennis state tournament

Landon Ecarma made a deep run into the KHSAA boys tennis state tournament last week in Lexington, reaching the finals before dropping a competitive match for the title.

Ecarma, the No. 3 seed entering the tournament, rolled in his first five matches of the week, winning each in straight sets.

Greenwood's G. Zheng offered some resistance in the semifinals after upsetting the tournament's top seed the round prior, but Ecarma dispatched the contender 6-3, 6-2 to set up a championship matchup with Covington Catholic's Alex

Yeager.

Ecarma won the first set over Yeager 6-3, but Yeager jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the second set. Ecarma battled back to even up the set at 5 games apiece. The duo split the next two games to force a set tiebreaker, which Yeager won to force a third set tiebreaker.

Yeager ultimately pulled out a back-and-forth tiebreaker 12-10 – his third such victory in as many matches – to win the title.

Ecarma's run was the deepest in program history for a boys singles player.
