February 2026

A NOTE FROM MRS. RICHARDS

How are you coping with things? As adults we have our own coping skills. Those favorite hobbies or things that help us when we feel big emotions. Maybe we exercise, play a sport, listen to music, bake, journal, take a walk, or talk to a trusted friend. God's word is always there for us. His truth is always THE Truth. It doesn't waver even when our thoughts are spiraling. During the month of January our students learned practical ways of dealing with big emotions. A couple of constants they learned about were breathing slowly and taking a break. We make better choices and decisions when we can pause and take a breath. I find myself teaching myself when I do these lessons and I'm grateful for the opportunity to share helpful ways for our students to deal with everyday situations that can feel overwhelming. Coming up in the month of February, the Kindergarten social lesson will be on "Think it, or say it?" while 1st through 4th grade's character-building lesson will be focusing on how Jesus had love and compassion for all people. I pray you find ways that can help you cope through tough times and please reach out to me or another caring adult if you find things to be too difficult to handle on your own.

SPIRITUAL LIFE

Pastor/Church Update

At CAI, we believe the bridge between school, home, and church is vital to our students' growth. This March, we are excited to host a special Pastor Appreciation Chapel specifically honoring the senior leaders of the churches represented by our families. To help us get the invitation list exactly right, please log into FACTS and ensure your church name is current and accurate by February 6th. We look forward to honoring those who shepherd our families so faithfully.
